Additional Notes

* See department for availability of intensive course (FREN 103 or 203)

 Study Abroad: a.) Compiègne: this immersion program is ideal for students who have completed one year of language study. Its successful completion will earn 6 credits toward FREN 201 and 202. It should be completed during the summer between the first and second year; b.) Paris-CUNY Exchange Program: students are encouraged to study at least one semester in Paris. Ideally, a student should have approximately one year of upper division French courses under his or her belt before departure. Nota Bene: at least 15 credits of the major must be taken “in-residency,” that is, at Hunter College. For courses taken abroad to be counted as equivalent, they must fit the course offerings in the French major.

•FREN 220, 275, 311, 312, 321, Group A, taught in French: 12 credits must be taken from this category. No exceptions and no substitutions. Ideally, this sequence of courses should be completed before beginning 300-level courses, with the possible exception of FREN 341 or 342, which may be started before completing all of Group A.

•FREN 241-262, Group B, taught in English: 0 to 9 credits may be taken in this category. Such courses may be taken simultaneously with the language sequence FREN 101-202.

•FREN 335-365, Group C, taught in French: 9 to 18 credits must be taken from this category. Students are expected to take FREN 341 and 342 in addition to whatever other 300-level courses interest them. Depending on how many credits students take from Group B, the number of credits required from Group C will decrease. For example, if a student takes 0 credits from Group B, then the number of credits from Group C must total 18. If a student takes 3 credits from Group B, then the number of credits from Group C will total 15. Etc.
